20ltd.com, a British site, offers eccentric collectors' items such as granite dumbbells and a "Good versus Evil" foosball table (it pits Hitler against Gandhi). The site, founded by two London ad-industry vets, hosts a rotating list of 20 items. You get e-mail alerts when something new goes up for sale, so you can deliberate for a few days. A very good thing, since impulse shopping on 20ltd could saddle you with a $17,721 fox-fur hammock.
